

WEEK'S CHAUTAUQUA OPENS UP HERE WITH RUSH ON TUESDAY

William Rainey Bennett, Whirlwind Orator, Speaks On "The Man Who Can"

ORCHESTRA GIVES CONCERT

Good Program Presented—Bennett Emphasizes the Value of Will Power and Pronounces Conscience Captain of Industry.

Starting off with a rush, and giving evidence of an unsuspected popularity, the Charleroi Chautauqua opened Tuesday, with the chief feature being the lecture by William Rainey Bennett on the theme, "The Man Who Can." Musical numbers by the Ziegler-Howe orchestral club were other features.

J. S. Duxbury, superintendent of this year's Chautauqua began the first entertainment promptly at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when he introduced the Ziegler-Howe orchestra. A pleasing concert was given for a half hour, and this was followed by Indian folk-lore stories, in costume, by Miss Eleanor Stevenson, who is here as the morning hour children's worker.

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock the Ziegler-Howe Orchestral club gave the evening prelude concert. The program consisted of high class numbers that were rendered appreciably well by the four members of the club with piano, violin, cello and flute. Their first number was a medley of opera numbers. One of their best efforts was that of the Mendelssohn number, "Rondo Capriccioso."

In his lecture William Rainey Bennett advanced the idea that any man can accomplish what he sets out to accomplish if he has the will-power and energy. He declared the engine of our soul is will-power, and that the captain of our destiny is our conscience. He said the biggest thing in life is the imagination, and the brain the acme of creation.

Mr. Bennett is a whirlwind lecturer and the Billy Sunday type of orator. His dramatic gestures and his forceful illustrations drove home with telling effect his points. He spoke for a change of the old system of big business to a new that recognizes the human element puts every man on a plane with every other man. He ennobled woman suffrage and paid woman a high compliment. He spoke for "art" in the home, proclaiming that art is "useful work done in a fine way."

This morning at the morning hour boy's courts' work was discussed and at the children's hour Japanese folk-lore stories were told. The educational lecture, "The Inside of the Cup," was given by Rev. Edgar F. Daugherty, who is the morning hour lecturer.

This afternoon the musical prelude is being given by the Dunbar Singing band. This company of musicians appeared at Monessen Tuesday and made a hit. Following the prelude, Grosvenor Dawe will lecture on "A Man's Duty to His Community." Tonight the Dunbar Singing Band will appear in a concert.

ROAD GATHERING TO BE IMPORTANT

Much Interest Being Taken In Meeting to be Held Tomorrow at Uniontown

BOOSTER JUDGE LOWE COMING

Judge J. M. Lowe has written a letter announcing his intention of attending the meeting at the Summit House near Uniontown on July 29. The judge is an excellent speaker, thoroughly informed with regard to the plan of the 50,000 mile system of national roads and an enthusiastic supporter of this project.

The first public utterance of the idea of the ocean-to-ocean along the famous old trails of the continent was made by Judge Lowe at the national good roads convention held in Oklahoma City, October 5 1910.

The movement to commemorate and perpetuate these old trails by building a modern highway along them from ocean to ocean received its first impetus from the National society of Daughters of the American Revolution. But the first convention to further his project was held in Kansas City, Mo., in April, 1912. Five hundred delegates, representing nine states, attended this convention and a permanent organization was perfected to carry on the work.

Judge Lowe was made president of the organization and has held that position ever since. The trails selected to form the route were Braddock's road, the old National pike or Cumberland road, Boone's Lick road, Old Santa Fe trail and the Grand Canyon route.

The Old National pike or Cumberland road in which is included that part of the national highways system which traverses the counties of Somerset, Fayette and Washington is full

TROUBLE EXPERIENCED WITH GUARANTEE FUND

Chautauqua Guarantors Face Prospect of Raising $800—Similar Conditions Reported Elsewhere in This District

Local guarantors of the Redpath-Brockway Chautauqua are experiencing some difficulty in raising the guarantee fund of $2,000 in the ticket sale for the local Chautauqua this week and the same state of affairs is said to exist at Brownsville, Monessen and Monongahela.

Locally there is a shortage as nearly as can be estimated of $800 that must under the contract be made up by the guarantors. Tuesday evening a meeting of the guarantors was held at the Chautauqua tent, with Dr. H. J. Repman as chairman, and the matter was gone over. Tickets totaling up to approximately $1,200 were reported sold. Another meeting will be held tonight at which time matters of adjustment will be discussed and possibly the matter of a compromise in the guarantee to the Redpath-Brockway bureau taken up.

Other towns are feeling the burden much the same as Charleroi, for there has been a general falling down on the ticket sale. The circuit now in progress is Connellsville, Uniontown, Brownsville, Monessen, Charleroi and Monongahela in the order mentioned, lasting on the whole about two weeks. The total guarantee fund for this district within a 50-mile radius, according to conditions said to obtain, is $12,000. Though no figures have been obtained from Connellsville, Uniontown or Brownsville it is said there has been a lack of hearty support shown. In Monessen guarantors made up a deficit of $800. There are 200 guarantors there, so each guarantor took two tickets for disposal as he willed. In Monongahela, there is reported deficit in the ticket sale of about $600. These figures are based on the guarantee of $2,000 worth of tickets which is the demand of the bureau furnishing the attractions and conducting the various Chautauquas. At Waynesburg it is said there was a shortage of $600 that had to be made up and the report from Greensburg is that guarantors had to fork over $21 each to pay the deficit.

BROWNELLER CANDIDATE FOR DIRECTOR OF POOR

(Political Advertising)
H. D. Browneller of East Pike Run township formally announced in this issue of the Mail as a candidate for re-election as a member of the County Poor Board in the Primary election to be held Tuesday, September 21st.

H. D. BROWNELLER

As a Director of the Poor Mr. Browneller has achieved distinction and made good. He is now completing his first term as one of the overseers of the poor and the record he has made unquestionably recommends him to the taxpayers of the County for the customary second term. His devotion and fidelity to the work has earned for him the esteem and full confidence of the people of the county. No member of this Board in recent years has done more to elevate its standard and bring the work of these institutions into full harmony with the State Laws.

As a Republican Mr. Browneller is one who with unswerving loyalty and fidelity, in sunshine and storm, stood steadfastly by the leaders and principles of the Republican party. He asks for support upon his record.

BROWNSVILLE HOSPITAL TO BE PARTLY FINISHED

Arrangements Made by Board of Managers For Completing and Equipping One Wing—Ten Rooms Located in This Part of Structures

Plans of the Brownsville Hospital Association revised since the slashing of the legislative appropriation of $45,000 to $15,000 by Governor Brumbaugh in regard to the completion and opening of the institution were made public Monday in a statement issued by the Board of Managers and another appeal made to Brownsville residents for assistance by subscriptions in aiding in the hospital's completion and opening.

At a previous meeting of the association it was decided to finish and equip a portion of the building as soon as possible and a committee appointed to confer with Architect Andrew P. Cooper and the Charleroi Lumber company to ascertain just how much of the building could be completed and equipped with the funds now on hand. The committee reported that the Church street wing and the operating room could be completed. Ten rooms are located in the Church street wing. Work will be started immediately by the Charleroi Lumber company and the Brownsville General hospital is at last due to be opened near November 1.

The officers of the board are: G. B. Obey, president; W. M. Lilley, vice president; L. N. Reichard, secretary and E. M. Bowman, treasurer.

WASHINGTON BOOSTERS SPEND PROFITABLE DAY IN VALLEY

YOUTHFUL THEODORE BACH HIKES HERE TO SEE BOY SCOUT WORK

Son of Prof. E. E. Bach, of Ellsworth, Spending Day in Charleroi, After Long Distance Walk.

"I just wanted to see how your Boy Scouts were getting along, and took a hike in," announced young Theodore Bach, the son of Prof. E. E. Bach, sociological superintendent of the Ellsworth Collieries company this morning when he arrived in town after a "hike" from Ellsworth. He concluded to spend the day in town. Young Bach is a member of Troop 2, of the Pittsburgh command of Boy Scouts. He arose early this morning at Ellsworth and started on his hike, arriving at about 9 o'clock, or just in time for the morning Boy Scouts' work at the Chautauqua tent. Both he and his father are Boy Scout enthusiasts.

Cooperation Urged in Each District Visited by County Seat Speakers

SPEAKING HERE AT BEACH

Secretary Ketchum of County Seat Board of Trade Explains Purpose of "Get Acquainted Trip"—Visitors Met by Local People.

Bringing the message of cooperation and advancing suggestions for betterment of Washington county through the betterment of each district in the county a party of 125 or more trade boosters from Washington, Houston and Canonsburg made their first "Get Acquainted" trip to the Monongahela valley Tuesday. They stopped at Monongahela, Charleroi and Donora, being met at each point and given a chance to explain the reason for their tours. The journey was the second of the kind taken, the previous one having been an experimental trip to Canonsburg.

Finleyville was reached at 11 o'clock. After a short stop the trip was continued to Monongahela where the party took lunch, and met a number of the business men and citizens. The visitors were welcomed by Lloyd E. Flint, secretary of the Monongahela Board of Trade. Speeches were made by various ones.

Reaching Charleroi at about 2:30, nearly an hour behind schedule, the party of Washington boosters was escorted to the bathing beach, where speaking took place at the grandstand. John B. Schafer, president of the Charleroi Business Men's association; John O. Watson, vice president; Burgess S. L. Washburn, John D. Berryman and others met the visitors. The line of march was from Fifth street to the beach.

Arriving at the beach several songs were sung under direction of J. R. Burke a Washington music instructor. John D. Berryman made the address of welcome, speaking for cooperation in business and for mutual interest by business men in a good administration of affairs in the county.

Charles S. Smith, president of the Business Men's Bureau of the Washington Board of Trade made a few remarks and he was followed by Ed. R. Smith of Canonsburg.

The chief address was made by Charles M. Ketchum, secretary of the Washington Board of Trade. Mr. Ketchum explained that the purpose of the tour was to get business men of the county interested in the betterment of the county and to get them working cooperatively toward that end. He announced that a community picnic for the entire county would be held at Arden on Labor Day, and invited the populace. Also Mr. Ketchum voiced the intention of the Washington boosters to visit the valley district again this fall, and promised on behalf of the Washington Board of Trade to assist in every way possible toward the organization of influential and wide-awake trade bodies in each town visited. It was the desire.

During the meeting a mock trial, laughable, but quite suggestive of

OFFICIALS FOR CONTESTS NAMED

Dr. J. W. Hunter and Dr. V. P. Vieslet Judges For First-Aid Work

MINERS' OUTING ON AUGUST 14

Some of the officials for the miners' big field day to be held at Eldora park on Saturday, August 14 have been selected. The first-aid contest will be directed, according to the present arrangements by Prof. E. E. Bach of the Ellsworth Collieries company and the first-aid contest will be one of the important features of the day. It will decide where a silver loving cup won last year by the Tom's Run team will remain the coming year.

Dr. J. W. Hunter and Dr. V. P. Vieslet, both of Charleroi have been engaged as judges of the contest.

The rules usually in effect at a first-aid event will govern the contest, which will attract teams from many points.

ANNUAL REPORT COMPLETED BY THE COMMISSIONERS

The clerical force at the county commissioners' office has just completed the annual report of the affairs of Washington county which the law requires that they send each year to the secretary of internal affairs at Harrisburg. This report is a tabular statement by assessors' districts of the number of taxicabs, the number of acres of cleared and timber land and the amount at which all the real and personal profit and all matters and things made taxable by the laws of the state were valuable; also the amount of tax assessed thereon for county purposes.

Mrs. Charles Hayward, of Monongahela was a Charleroi visitor Tuesday.

AUTO CARELESSNESS.

It would appear to the casual observer that it is rather by accident than by reason that the average town suffers from more serious automobile accidents than have marked the progress of modern traffic. These summary statistics, however, are not entirely correct. The fact is that the average town is a prominent traffic street to permit the flying gasoline engines to engage his attention is considered that it is no particular fault of some drivers that life and limb are nearly seriously endangered and not usually suspended, says the New Castle Herald.

There is entirely too much carelessness, too much speed and too little regard for the rights of those who make progress, tediously, upon foot.
It is not the intention to make a sweeping indictment of auto owners for this would be manifestly unfair.
The great majority of respectable and reasonable owners of automobiles either drive carefully themselves or employ careful drivers. It is in their interest to do so and were it not the majority of them would be impelled to respect the interest of others.

But there is a roving band that is not so cautious and discreet and it certainly lacks the regard for others that should characterize the use of streets, owned in common by those in town and those who follow less imaginative locomotion.
There is a goodly number, it seems,
which assumes that a tooting of the horns gives them carte
blanche anywhere and everywhere.
The authorities can't be everywhere. Whether they have or have not done what they could, some obligation rests upon auto owners as a class to repress their less responsible members. It is of great interest to them, it would seem, to see to it that the automobile is not made a public peril. Can't they themselves urge and help to bring respect for more effective regulations?

RICH VALLEY GETTING RICHER

The rich Monongahela valley, long recognized as one of the richest valleys in the world, is becoming richer.
The building of new mills at Donora and elsewhere is doing it, says the Keasport News. One new plant, that of the American Wire and Steel Company, for the manufacture of wire, we are reliably informed, will have cost over $5,000,000. The United States Steel corporation contemplates the erection of another large mill at that place, the cost of which is estimated between two and three millions. These mills will employ hundreds of workmen. Additions are being made to mills in other parts of the valley.

In the course of time houses will have to be built for the additional workers and with the homes will come stores and greater business establishments, all of which means the speeding of more mills.

The great and rich Monongahela valley has long challenged the world to produce its equal. Within a distance of little over 30 miles there are hatched about the banks of the Monongahela river immense mills.
And the end is not yet. Every industry tried to the valley adds to its drainage of getting more. There is no reason to believe that from time to time plots will be acquired and more manufacturing plants erected in his vicinity.

which of course must be reasonable.

Two alleged trespassers were killed
on the railroad tracks near North Charleroi in much the usual way, being confused by the noise of a train going one way and stepping in the path of another. There is only one thing to reduce the number of fatalities from the passing and that is not to trespass.

Don't Charleroi and Washington County was the advice the party of 100 business men from Washington have on their first visit to the valley.
When they cooperated they concluded. The theory is that cooperation is the present-day big word in the conduct of affairs.

The fact that city officers were able to secure in a couple of days the tag numbers of 500 motor vehicles violating the speed ordinance shows the magnitude of the practice, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. Fine tem! It is within the power of the police to entirely suppress this dangerous nuisance.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

In the "Interesting People" department of the August American Magazine appears an article about Henry F. Swanback the oldest Old Fellow in America who lives at the age of 100 at Greenwood, Nebraska.
Mr. Swanback was a boyhood friend of Bismark's. His grandfather lived to be 111. Following are his rules for living to be 100:

"Go to bed early and get up early.
"Never sleep in a heated room.
"Keep fresh air in the sleeping room.
"Sleep out of doors in summer—winter, too, if it can be arranged.
"Drink plenty of fresh water.
"Use very little red liquor.
"As old age comes on take each morning a small wine glass of one-third glycerin and two-thirds good whisky.

"Smoke as often as you please, but do not inhale the smoke, or blow it out through the nostrils.

"If you are unfortunate enough to lose your wife, get another. It is not good for man or woman to live alone.

"Don't worry over anything. Worry kills more people than disease.
"Keep an even temper at all times.
"Be cheerful at all times.

"Keep the feet dry and the head clear.

"Never eat meat. A little chicken will not harm one, but must not be eaten too often.

"Eat plenty of fresh fish.
"Do not drink coffee.

"Keep away from sweet stuff. It ruins the stomach and kidneys.

"Take plenty of outdoor exercise.
Walk a great deal.

"Follow these rules and any normal man, barring accidents, can live to be one hundred."

In the August American Magazine
Ring W. Lardner, the Chicago baseball humorist, writes about Christy Matthewson the pitcher for the New York Giants, who has pitched and won more games of baseball than anyone in the big leagues today. In the course of the article Mr. Lar-dner describes as follows Manager Mc-Graw's troubles in taking care of Matthewson:

"It must be an awful strain on McGraw, handling this bird. Unless he keeps his eye right on him, he's liable to sneak up to his room some night and play a game o' checkers.
That ain't all, neither. If McGraw is ast out to somebody's house or to go to the theatre, he don't enjoy himself on account o' worryin'. How does he know that Matty ain't smokin a see-gar or lappin' up a dish of ice cream? Mac can't never leave the hotel without bein' a-scared that Matty'll buy a magazine and read it.
And I s'pose that once or twice a season he goes all to pieces and chews
a stick o' gum.

"I don't know if the job of manag-in him is worse off the field or on.
When he's out there in the box he seems to lose his head entirely. With the bases loaded, they's always a chance that Matty'll make a guy pop out instead o' whiffin' him. Then with a man on first base and nobody down and the batter sent up to bunt, he's liable to forget he's a pitcher and try to do a little fieldin'. You can't never tell. Maybe he'll run in and grab the bunt and force a man at second base, instead o' standing still like a see-gar sign and hopin' somebody else'll do somethin'. Yes, sir I bet McGraw don't sleep a wink on the road or to home neither from frettin' over this guy and wonderin' how he can learn him somethin'.

A POOR MAN'S WEALTH
BY JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY

poor man? Yes, I must confess—
No wealth of gold do I possess;
No pastures fine, with grazing kine,
Nor fields of waving grain are mine;
No foot of fat or fallow land
Where rightfully my feet may stand
The while I claim it as my own—
By deed and title, mine alone.

Ah, poor indeed! perhaps you say—
But spare me your compassion, pray!
A poor man? Yes, I must confess—
No wealth of gold do I possess;
No pastures fine, with grazing kine,
Nor fields of waving grain are mine;
But ah, my friend! I've wealth, no end!
For millionaires might condescend
To bend the knee and envy me
This opulence of poverty.

SLIGHT CHANGE IN WORDING
Wherein Wife's Letters to Husband Differed From Those That She Received From Him.

This little story was told by Congressman William H. Murray of Oklahoma the other evening, when the conversation turned to the letters that the old man writes to absent wives in the good old summer time.

Recently two women were busy knitting scarfs and things for the soldiers, when one of them casually referred to a summer visit she had made to the mountains.

"That makes me think," was the smiling response of the other. "What kind of letters does your husband write you when you are away on your summer trips?"

"He always writes very affectionately," answered the first, pausing to see if she had dropped any stitches. "He invariably begins with 'My precious treasure,' and ends by sending me his love."

"Very beautiful," was the smiling comment of the first. "I suppose you answer in the same loving vein?"

"With a slight variation," reflectively replied the first. "I start my letter with 'My precious treasurer,' and end by asking him to send me $10."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Corn on the Cob

---the Roasting Ear

Is not more delicious than the

New Post Toasties

In the growth of corn there is a period when the kernels are plumped out with a vegetable milk, most nutritious (roasting ears). As it slowly ripens this hardens and finally becomes almost flinty.

This nutritious part of the corn is cooked, seasoned, rolled thin, and toasted by a new process which enhances the true corn flavour.

Different from ordinary corn flakes, the New Post Toasties have a distinctive form and flavour; and they keep their appetizing crispness, even after cream or milk is added.

These Superior Corn Flakes come oven-fresh in tight wax-sealed packages; and they cost no more than ordinary "corn flakes." Insist upon having

NO GERMS ON FIRING LINE

At Least Soldiers, Hourly Exposed to Death, Have One Advantage Over Civilians.

Trenches are healthier than barracks or camps for soldiers, so far as infectious diseases are concerned. Despite the hardships, cold, exposure, irregular meals, strain of nerves, and other wholly unhygienic conditions, infectious diseases are usually at a minimum, on the firing line, so says Col. Valery Harvard of the United States medical corps. Dr. H. W. Hill of the Minnesota Public Health association explains this seeming paradox.

In the barracks and camps the soldiers have wide intercourse with each other, and with civilians, thus picking up whatever infectious diseases are going about. Despite regular life, good meals, discipline and sanitation, the infectious diseases attack them. But in the trenches they are comparatively isolated, and since infected soldiers are not allowed there, those on the firing line have little chance to become infected at all. Such injuries as cold, starvation, strain, can produce are, of course, suffered, but infectious diseases are not included in this list. Parallel cases in civil life are not uncommon, and everyone knows of families who live like pigs, yet are never sick, while other families living under apparently the best conditions are more or less constantly infected with one epidemic disease after another. Careful investigation always shows that the former escape, because they do not happen to be exposed to infection.

MUST GUARD AGAINST STRAIN

Too Much Care of Health Cannot Be Taken by the Student Who Has to Work.

After making a study of the 48 students comprising the graduating class of the Bennett Medical college, Chicago, many of whom were working their way through, Dr. William F. Waugh, emeritus dean of the college, writes to the Medical Record that "the showing is not a good one for the workers, more than half complaining of the strain."

Doctor Waugh goes on to say: "The man who attempts to earn his living while attending the modern medical school should lay down his campaign as carefully as the modern general does and calculate his own powers, the means of keeping his body in the best condition and the extent of his own working capacities without undue strain. In a word, he must be a qualified sanitarian and successfully apply the laws of sanitary science to his own case."

A Discovery in Steel.

A Sheffield firm has introduced "Tirth's stainless" steel, which it claims is nonrusting, unstainable and untarnishable. This steel is especially adapted for table cutlery, as the original polish is maintained after use, even when brought in contact with the most acid foods, and it only requires ordinary washing to cleanse. It is claimed that it retains a keen edge much like that of the best double shear steel, and, as the properties claimed are inherent in the steel and are not due to any treatment, knives can readily be sharpened on a "steel" or by using the ordinary cleaning machine or knifeboard. It is expected it will prove a great boon, especially to large users of cutlery, such as hotels, steamships, restaurants. The price of this steel is about twenty-six cents per pound for ordinary sizes, which is about double the price of the usual steel for the same purpose. It also costs more to work up, so that the initial cost of articles made from this new discovery, it is estimated, will be about double the present cost, but it is considered that the saving of labor to the customer will more than cover the total cost of the cutlery in the first twelve months.—Consular Report.

Novelty in Motor Vehicles.

A novel motor-driven racer is the invention of a St. Louis genius, who has given the name of the "unicycle" to the great hoop. Though a couple of small wheels, or rollers, are attached to the side of the queer craft, they merely serve to steady it when it is still, and are raised when the device is in motion. The motive power is a gas engine of the rotary type, with three cylinders, and this drives a propeller, five feet in length, at such speed that the wheel travels at a better rate than a mile a minute—74 miles an hour, to be exact. The frame which carries the engine, propeller, driver, and fuel supply is very ingeniously constructed with a set of rollers that revolve against the inner side of the big wheel. In this manner the frame remains upright while the wheel revolves. The latter is of aluminum and has a diameter of 81 inches. Its circumference is protected by a solid rubber tire.

Important Discoveries Near.

Sir William Crookes announces at the recent anniversary meeting of the Royal Society, of which he is president, that "we are on the brink of striking developments in our knowledge of the structure of the elusive atom." Provisionally this has been its definition: A nuclear positive charge of electricity—exceedingly small compared with the sphere of action of the atom, and consisting of a number of unit charges—surrounded by an external shell in which a number of separate negative electrons are distributed.

Sutphen Metropolitan Musical Men

THE Sutphen Metropolitan Musical Men, who will tour the Redpath-Brockway Chautauquas during the coming season, is a most delightful and accomplished trio of musicians who will put on a delightful program of novelty music, using trombone, cornet, chimes, musical glasses, saxophones and other instruments. They will play two prelude programs each day throughout the entire season. This is a standard trio and every man an artist.

FRUGALITY ON THE FARM

Seems to Be Generally Recognized That Agriculturist Is Seldom a Spendthrift.

The simplicity, frugality and thrift of life in the country, pictured as follows by Archbishop-Messmer, who evidently is fond of his subject as well as intimately familiar with it, makes a striking contrast with the wasteful extravagance seen in the cities:

"Country life seems to be particularly productive of habits of frugality and economy. As a rule, you do not see much 'high life' on farms; what there is comes from the city. You see not many dainties on the farmer's table. A good, substantial meal of country products, bread of his own baking, ham of his own smoking, good water from his own well, and perhaps some hard cider from his own press—that's all he wants. Economy—did you ever hear of a farmer spendthrift? He is a rare bird. Is it not proverbial that nothing is so hard as to pull a dollar from a farmer's pocket? He will give you bushels of oats or potatoes, a sack of cabbageheads, a chicken or even a goose, a ham, or a mutton-leg—all things that you cannot easily take along; but cash, oh, you must please wait until he has sold his stock, or grain or potatoes. Well, let us admit that this may be a little overdone—the fact remains that country folks are known all over the world as a saving class—far more than city folk. If it happens that a farmer has got some money, he is very slow in putting it out on speculation, he is afraid of oil and mining stocks. He puts it in the bank, or, better still, on good and safe mortgages. He saves."

WHEN KINGS WERE FIGHTERS

In the Old Days Rulers Were Not Kept Out of Battle, But Led Their Soldiers.

The tendency of czars, Kaisers, kings and other potentates to get into the European war personally is marked. Several times it has been necessary to pull the Kaiser off the firing line. King George, beyond all doubt, is just as brave, and the czar is known to have a similar hankering for the trenches. As for the King of Italy, if his country were to enter the war it would be entirely impossible to keep the gallant Victor Emmanuel II out of the first fight that happened, with his inheritance from a long line of fighting kings, and particularly from his father, King Humbert, whose personal intrepidity, shown at Novara and elsewhere, overcame all dynastic objections to his exposure to bullets and bombshells.

It must indeed be galling to the emperors and kings to have to keep out of these scraps. In the old days it was always the business of kings to lead their troops in the very forefront of battle. Consider Richard Coeur de Lion, for instance. He fought day after day in the Crusades, performing prodigies of valor. Even Richard III, the alleged bunchback, stood or rode for hours in the front rank, slashing and spearing and beating down all opposition. In those days a king had to be a fighter. In other words, every inch a king.

FAYETTE COUNTY HARD HIT BY TREE BLIGHT

Fire blight, which disease is also locally known as twig blight, pear blight, fruit blight and canker, is especially prevalent in Fayette county as well as other sections of the state this year. It is a bacterial disease which attacks pears, apples and cherries as well as many allied plants such as mountain ash, hawthorns and crab apples. The disease does not locate itself at any certain position of the tree but attacks the blossoms, twigs, larger limbs and even the trunk itself, where it forms the so-called "cankers" or areas of diseased bark in which the winter is spent. These "cankers" are developed by the disease infecting the twigs located on the trunk or larger limbs and running down these twigs and spreading out around the bases.

SERVICE COMMISSION TO INSPECT CROSSINGS

Pennsylvania Body Announces Determination to Investigate Carefully Every Accident—Complaints Now on File Noted For Hearing.

The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has committed itself to a vigorous policy of grade crossing investigation one of the most important steps taken by the Public Service Commission since its organization in 1912.

At an executive session Commissioner Monaghan presented the matter and his resolution was unanimously adopted. It recited that there were a large number of dangerous grade crossings in Pennsylvania; that under the law it is the duty of the commission to investigate and remedy the situation and to that end without unnecessary delay to formulate a policy by which ultimately all grade crossings in Pennsylvania should be eliminated, and presently such protection by gates, bells or watchmen, as might be required to safeguard the public, should after examination, be installed. The resolution calls for reports covering information collected by the Chief of the Bureau of Accidents, John P. Doherty, and the Chief of the Engineering Bureau, F. Herbert Snow, and the reference of this information to a sub-committee for immediate preliminary report.

All complaints concerning grade crossings now on file with the commission were directed to be noted for hearing. Following the adoption of resolution, the acting chairman named a sub-committee composed of Commissioners Monaghan, Rilling, and Brecht, and they have been busily engaged in preliminary examination.

ROAD GATHERING

of historic interest. It was inaugurated by Albert Gallatin during the administration of Thomas Jefferson in 1806. It was to be a highway from Cumberland to St. Louis. The road was constructed of dirt, planks, split poles and other materials. It soon became almost impassable. Its improvement became the "paramount" issue in the campaign of 1824. Mr. Adams, Henry Clay and John C. Calhoun advocated the rebuilding of the road. Even at that time, public sentiment was so strong in its favor that the house of representatives passed the measure by a large majority and the senate passed it almost unanimously. President Monroe vetoed the bill. Monroe afterward reversed himself on this same question and the road was rebuilt as far west as Vandalia, Ill. In 1836 the road was abandoned back to the individual states.

Maryland has taken her responsibility seriously and has put that part of the road within her borders in excellent condition. West Virginia has done the same and Ohio within the last two years entered into contracts amounting to $2,000,000 for the improvement of the National pike between Columbus and the Ohio river.

Pennsylvania has not kept pace with these eastern states. This condition should be corrected as soon as possible.

The state highway department is doing everything within its powers to improve the national road within this state but it is handicapped by want of money. It would seem that united effort upon the part of men interested in this road would convince the next legislature and our governor that Pennsylvania can afford to and should do as well by this road as has been done by the neighboring states.

MRS. THOMSON TELLS WOMEN

How She Was Helped During Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I am just 52 years of age and during Change of Life I suffered for six years terribly. I tried several doctors but none seemed to give me any relief. Every month the pains were intense, in both sides, and made me so weak that I had to go to bed. At last a friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I tried it at once and found much relief. After that I had no pains at all and could do my housework and shopping the same as always. For years I have praised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it has done for me, and shall always recommend it as a woman's friend. You are at liberty to use my letter in any way."—Mrs. Thomson, 549 W. Russell St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to carry women so successfully through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

BACK GIVES OUT

Plenty of Charleroi Readers Have This Experience.

You tax the kidneys—overwork them—They can't keep up the continual strain.

The back may give out—it may ache and pain;

Urinary troubles may set in. Don't wait longer—take Doan's Kidney Pills.

Charleroi people tell you how they act.

Mrs. B. Mahoney, 823 McKean avenue, Charleroi, says: "For a long time one of the family complained of pains across the back and any bending caused sharp twinges to dart through the body. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Piper Bros. Drug Store soon relieved the pain in the back and brought benefit in every way.
